Rev. H. J. Wyckeff Delivered Address on Temptation at Theyer Building

At the 3,30 meeting Sunday under the Y. M. C. A. auspices, after selec-tions by Swahn's orchestra, and the singing of several popular hymns, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff made a very helpful address on the subject of temptation. He brought out the thought that as we grow older the temptation grows stronger and stronger and the trials seem to ever be on the increase both in number and severity. We may feel some times as though we could not some times as though we could no successfully battle against the temp-ter, and that we may as well give up in something which cannot be accomplished, he at once sets out to accomplish that very thing, and he usually succeeds in overcoming the many difficulties in the way. James, the writer of the epistle says, "Count it all joy when ye have many temptations," and it seems to me as though he had the same ideas about temptation as did Edison about the impossible things: when we face the trial or temptation Mrs. Dwight A. efensive barrage, and artillery frantically called for. German Flares and Lights Some of the German flares and lights Some of the German flares and lights are most amusing as well iss spectacular. Their latest star shells have a parachute attachment and hang suspended in the air for a long time, lighting up the surrounding country for several hundred yards. They break up into three balls and the British soldiers call them "pawnbrokers."

The Germans in the front line have long been worried by the interlocity of their artillery to that of the British ish.
